

Join Us

Last Updated Wednesday, 24 February 2010

NARPO - a rank free association of retired police officers dedicated to improving benefits for all members.

NARPO - low annual fees usually deducted from your pensions on a monthly basis.

NARPO - each quarter receive into your home a glossy magazine written by members and for members, containing valuable improvements in all benefits relating to retired people.

NARPO - campaigning to maintain police pensions and looking for improvements in all benefits relating to retired people.

NARPO - join and you can recover your membership fee many times over by taking up some of the member services offered.

NARPO - special deals on all insurances for home, car, health etc, from our own insurance brokers who are continually looking to offer the very best quality insurances at the most competitive rates.

NARPO - travel discounts, which brings not only special offers to our members but offers year round discounts on every type of holiday.

NARPO - membership of a local branch which arranges regular meetings and other activities to ensure you keep in touch with friends and colleagues from your service days.

NARPO - extra help and assistance to individual members facing problems arising out of their services or their pensions.

Members benefits

The many benefits listed constitute only a very small part of our many activities.

We offer a service for all our members who are actively looking for work or, who are looking for a change of work.

We offer a range of goods and supplies at attractive rates.

We are founder members of the Public Service Pensioners Council which represents the views of well over 1 million pensioners in the public sector. Through this body we have access to representation to many government departments.

We continue to liaise, both formally and informally with the Police Staff Associations and through them make our voice heard on the Police Negotiating Board in respect of pension matters.

Application for membership

Subscription rate for 2010 is only £16.92 for the whole year.

To enrol as a member of the National Association of Retired Police Officers, simply fill out and submit the following online form:

ONLINE APPLICATION